OKLAHOMA COMMUNITY HEALTH CENTERS

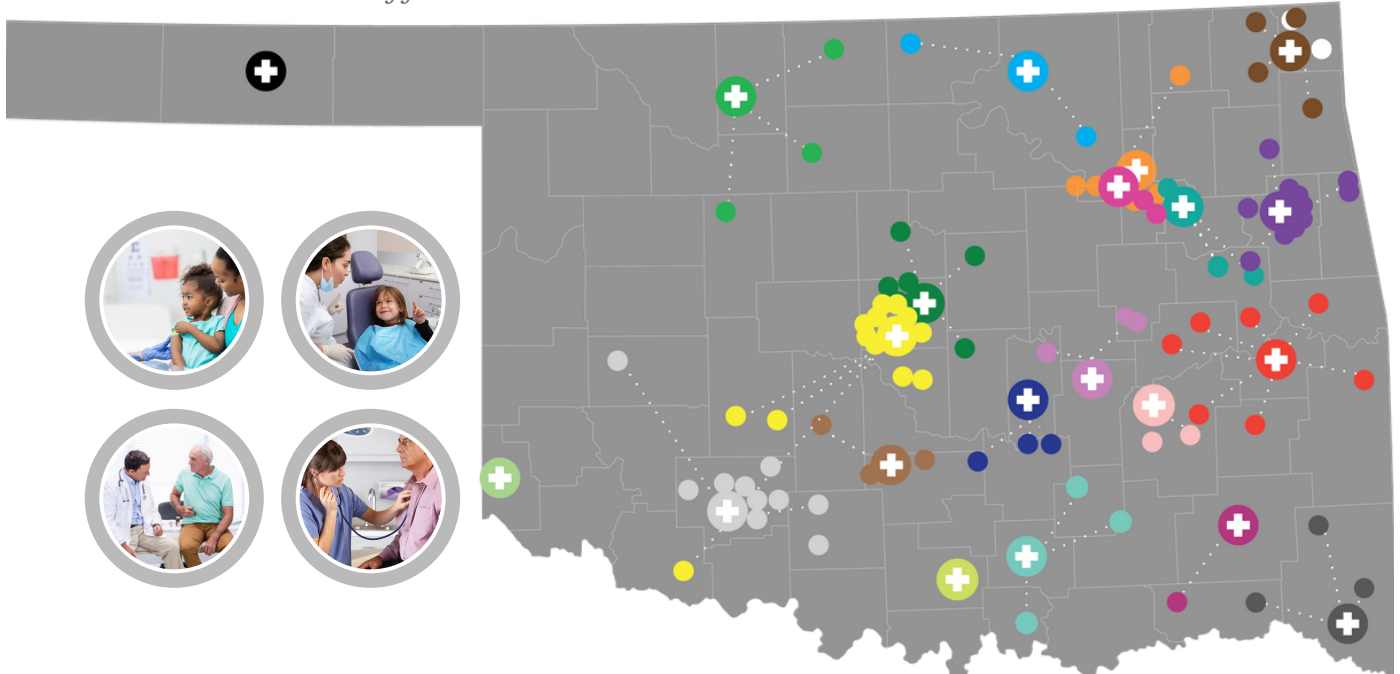

A cost-effective solution to Oklahoma's health care needs

Community health centers (CHCs) save money by preventing chronic disease and avoidable hospitalizations. A study in AJPH found Medicaid patients seen by CHCs cost 24% less than other providers.

CHCs produce cost-savings in the Medicaid program by coordinating services, integrating care, and averting chronic disease. 3/4 of all children served by Oklahoma CHCs and 1/3 of all CHC patients are covered by Medicaid.

In many communities, CHCs are the largest employers. For every physician employed in a rural community, over $1.5 million in economic growth is generated. CHCs are helping solve the state's health workforce shortages.

CHCs serve everyone regardless of ability to pay or insurance status. CHCs use sliding fee scales so patients can pay based on their income. When people without insurance have access to primary care, they are less likely to rack up uncompensated care in the ER.
